New Classes This Fall at Edmond Ballet School

EDMOND, OKLAHOMA--Beginning Sep. 8, 2010, Academy of Ballet and Theatre Arts (ABTA) will be offering an eight-week session of Open Classes. These are a new addition to the Pre-Professional classical ballet, character and jazz classes already offered by the Edmond studio.

The open classes will be held on Wed. and Friday evenings. The courses will include Dance for Musical Theatre, Floor Barre, Acting, Adult Jazz, and Adult Ballet.

The Dance for Musical Theatre class will introduce students to dance basics for musical theatre and the students will also learn entire dances from musicals. This class will be taught by Andrea Wolf.

The Floor Barre class will be taught by Amy Sabine. Floor Barre strengthens dancers and helps them to use the proper muscles when executing steps. Sabine will also be teaching Adult Jazz and Adult Ballet.

The Acting class will include the exploration of improvisation, pantomime, dialogue, monologue, dramatic and comedic delivery.

Tuition for the eight weeks is $120.00 for new students. For those already enrolled at ABTA and the parents or siblings of current students, tuition is only $100.00. Tuition must be paid in full upon enrollment. The Dance for Musical Theatre and Acting classes are for students ages 7 and up. The Floor Barre classes are for ages 9 and up.

"I am very happy to offer these new classes to our community. They will benefit our current students by helping them expand their horizons and attract new students who are looking for a new, fun extra-curricular activity," said Lisa Webb, Owner/Director/Teacher at ABTA.

ABTA will hold two more eight-week sessions beginning in Jan. 2011. For more information visit www.abtaonline.org. To enroll please call (405) 752-1422. ABTA is recommended and endorsed by Tulsa Ballet.
